

Meandering through the open air art installation.

Entering the underground battery tank.