

St.Kilda

Solar tower
at night

Interior lighting shap the outdoor lighting

Maybe even wind

The tower has an opening and inviting side toward the sea which is actually colinear to the wind direction. It will run the air inside the tower to cool the panels and fresh the interior. however, if it was efficient, it is possible to place interior proplers to generare electricity from wind.

