

During day time, the fully open petals collect energy from the sun through translucent photovoltaic panels while providing a comfortable shade for visitors.

