Water, Art, Power, People

Collection is a social project. It will be made iteratively by a number of people over time, and they will grow with and through each other. It will be social infrastructure.