Mimesis

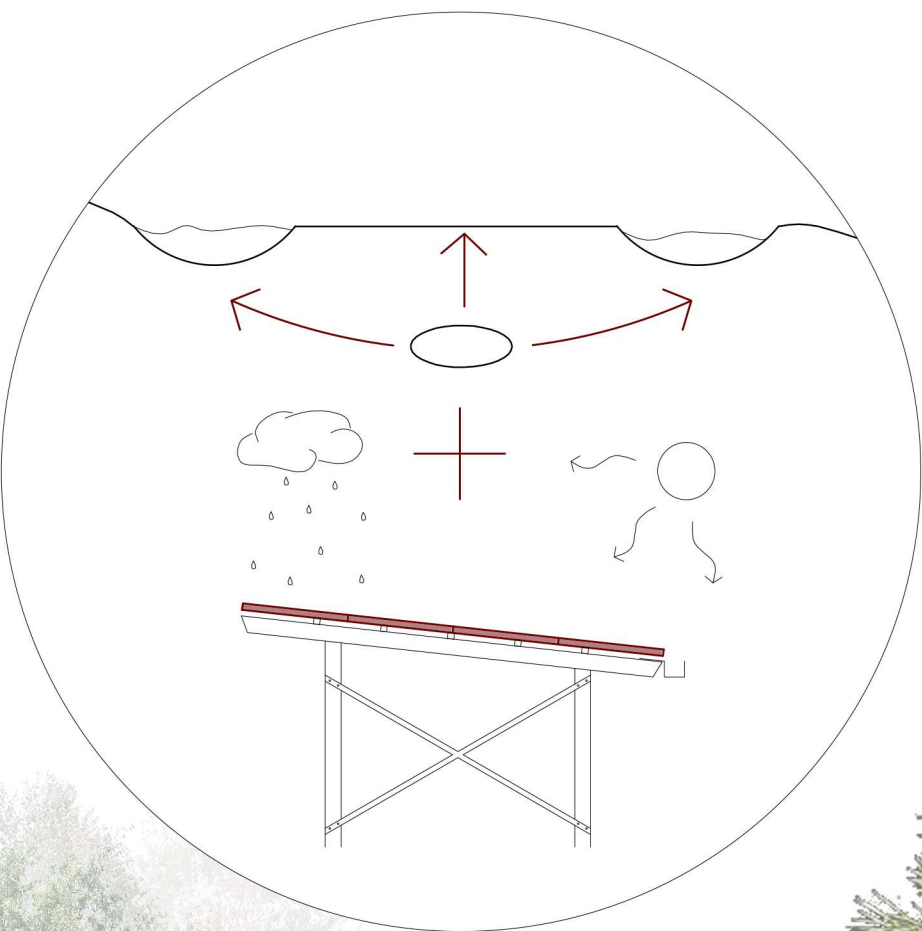

the concept of the project expresses the desire to be in continuous with the place. It blends with the landscape when viewed at eye level, but if you change the viewpoint it becomes a landmark

Modularity

the strength of the project is modularity, which also characterizes the shape of the project. In this way, possible future expansions with consequent spatial variations can be easily foreseen

Sustainability

rainwater harvesting, connections to the existing streams, water purification and also photovoltaic panels are the essential elements for the sustainability of the whole project.
