

Luma-Grove

The Fiji project blends sustainable energy and water collection with organic-nature inspired design. Using locally sourced material where applicable, Aluminum, stainless steel, and photovoltaic panels. This system integrates a solar canopy with water collecting leaf-like structures along the tree's sculpture. At its base lies a gathering area shaded by the leaf shaped panels above and provides seating for people to enjoy the beautiful Fiji rays.

