

the collectors

remote pavilion at Hualapai is shown here during construction

2. Hosts a glass collection system that can generate up to 12.7 megawatts (annual per structure)

1. A 100-year carbon neutral structure

3. And harvests an average of 20,000 liters of rainwater (annual per structure)

4. With a locally-sourced thatch roof to provide shelter

5. And a variety of expansion options