The collectors can be enclosed with geothermal heat for climate control purposes. This supports a broader range of possibilities such as indoor agriculture.