

Casting the pulp and assembling the structure should be an event. Throw mud. Get messy. Have fun. Allow people to participate in the culture and values you want to instill.

Once dried, the sections are transported to the site and stacked atop one another to form the structure.

1

2

3

4