

Installation Location

Vines and turbines is a simple system that can be placed anywhere on site and modified at will to suit the existing design elements. Vines grow as a function of multiplicity of a small element – turn and change direction fitting to whatever be the nature of the area.

The structure will act as edges and boundaries & control human movement. Openings along these elements act as guidance for human traffic along specific routes. Vines will terminate at top into wind turbines thereby utilizing wind energy.