

The design concept and composition of the art installations takes an inspiration from the profile of the regarded national flower of Germany, Centaurea cyanus commonly known as Cornflower.

A contextual symbolism of hope for a brighter future and love for culture and environment.

Metaphorically planted at the intersection of the park corridors from all direction, the emblem will serve as a focal point with its roots extending to the neighborhood.

A re-configurable art installation that will collectively create a gateway element, frame a corridor or create a rhythmic spatial experience forming the unified grand sculpture. These will anchor, activate and interconnect thematic open spaces that supports the program of the adjacent developments .

Potential application of thematic sustainable art installation at local garden scale to provide green energy, shade and cultural identity.

GREEN ENERGY EMBLEM

Imagine a culturally inspired modular large-scale renewable power generator artfully and equitably woven into the park that is elegantly representing the spirit of the people of Germany.
