

The Energy+Art Garden (TEAG) immerses visitors in a futurist world of dramatic energy producing and reactive sculpture and lighting, lush plantings, pathways, and gathering points for public engagement within the Spinelli climate park project. During the day, night, and all seasons, the beauty and multi-sensory experience of TEAG sparks visitors' imagination and desire for a world powered by clean energy. "Before change can happen it must be imagined." - Land Art Generator Initiative