

The strategic placement and composition of the walls teach us to respond to the ambient energy already present.

Undetermined uses of spaces attunes us to co-shaping the new possibilities of light freed from utility alongside non-human life.

Provoking a new way to be in the world, we learn to shed a life rooted in rapid consumption to satisfy all needs and wants.